

What matters most to Humanists and to Christians?

Key Knowledge and Concepts

Word	Definition
values	What you see as important and guide you in life
humanism	A way of thinking about how you live and behave
'a good life'	A Humanist aims to live a positive and happy life
worldview	An explanation of life and the world
influence	The power to have an effect on people
The Fall	Christian belief about when evil was brought into the world
dilemma	A difficult situation where you have to make a choice

HUMANISM

in a nutshell

1. Putting human beings and other living things at the centre of your moral outlook

2. Seeing the world as a natural place and looking to science and reason to make sense of it

3. Promoting and supporting human flourishing across all frontiers, and championing human rights for everyone

And that's about it.

Your values are what you see as important and serve as guiding principles in your life.

Humanism is a philosophy or a way of thinking about the world.

Humanism is a set of ethics or ideas about how people should live and act.

Humanist teaching stresses the importance of 'living a good life'.

The Golden rule, treat others the way you would like to be treated, is shared by Humanism and Christians.

Your worldview is your ideas about life; the foundation that your beliefs, actions, decisions and opinions are based on.

Your influences affect your worldview.

The Ten Commandments are a fundamental set of rules for Christians and Jews.

The Fall: Christians believe when Adam and Eve disobeyed God, they 'fell' from perfection and brought evil into a perfect world

